LA BELLE PROMENADE PINOT NOIR

La Belle Promenade is an extraordinary, high elevation site that was once an orchard growing cherries, prunes, and blackberries that was abandoned, leaving only the hundred-year-old ghost barn as a reminder of the past. The land was purchased and planted in 2012 by Marty Dorschlag and his stellar and seasoned vineyard team in his quest to build the next magical estate in Chehalem Mountains.

TASTING NOTES

The nose is complex and brooding. Earthen with hints of blood orange, soy, and fig. The wine coats the entire palate with big velvety tannins. Sweet at its core it's like eating the whole strawberry. The wine finishes with notes of cedar and citrus.
